

Summary of Information

E.E.I. (a):

Target personality "A" is involved. He acts as a "go between"; a middle man as it were. He is tall, wears glasses and has dirty blond, curly hair that is thin. He has a gaunt appearance. He is being handed something. He, in turn, passes this package on to somebody else. The package contains some sort of scheduling data. The pages contain lots of numbers. They depict locations and official schedules. These are reminiscent of patrol or maneuver schedules used by the police or the military. There are also sheets which are reminiscent of topographic maps.

One "map" in particular has been highlighted and marked differently. It depicts a location where three valleys converge, forming a single, flowing water course (see diagram). This location is very important. The contours of the terrain seem to be of particular importance to those involved.

This individual is not trusted but is regularly used for such matters. He is in it only for the bucks/opportunities. He is a fast talker, a salesman and mercenary. Watches and/or clocks are significant to this man. He travels alot through small, coastal towns. He is slick; he "would try to sell a bible to the Pope" is the perception he gives others. He "gets-off" on being the middleman. He has a peculiar drink that he drinks when he meets contacts. This drink is not typical to what is generally ordered in the setting where these meetings take place.

The individual from whom TARGET A receives the package has dark hair and brown skin. He has on a green uniform with a red outline or patches. I strongly get the feeling that he is associated with the concept of "military police" in some way.

E.E.I. (b):

TARGET B, I perceived, is a control name for this tasking. He has dark hair and is of a moderate build. He has been suspected in the past but is currently "clean". He has purposefully laid low for some time. His role in the past has been to finance or help find $ for operations.

E.E.I. (c):

TARGET C is central to this operation and is very high up. He spends a lot of time on a large boat reminiscent of a personal yacht (see diagram). He plays the image of being disinterested but is a major player. He is shadowing or surveilling this operation. He is slowly heading south to the location of the objective.
(Viewer's note: at this point in time, my throat really tightened up and it was impossible to swallow. This physical sensation has been indicative, in the past, of the target being very associated with illegal drugs, particularly hard drugs.)

(2)

This individual plays for keeps. He gives no second chances. Many within the operation /network wonder how other players tolerate this guy. He is arrogant, mean and talks down to everybody. A certain latin faction has considered killing him. However, those involved who may have a problem with his personality do not have one with the way/method he runs his operations. He is a stickler for precision in these things.

TARGET C has something to do with schedules. I have the perception that he gets the stuff that TARGET A receives as the go-between.

There is something odd and very unsettling about these guys. I have the overwhelming feeling that they were directly or indirectly "ex" intelligence types. TARGET C fancies himself to be a super spook or super counter spook. Somehow, at sometime, there is the concept of intelligence associated with their past.

This is an octopus of a network. The levels at which payoffs occur are numerous. At all levels. The term "harbor officials" was singularly identified in the session. TARGET C is involved with numerous acquaintances from a former time/life.

SINGLE WATER COURSE. CONTOURS
ON MAP ARE VERY PRONOUNCED

LARGE BOAT FROM WHICH
TARGET "C" OPERATES